have reached the limit with my eyes; bu1 work. And so I almost killed poor Meneva lieve him and put him out as a convalescei Louise, with whom his duties were a real si: 29th. You want to know the treasures They are enormous, it is true, but hi full vie are: the splendid harbour of Antwerp, tha capable of holding the largest fleets; the do of Dunkirk, of Havre, of Nice; the giganl Cherbourg; the harbour works at Venice; t from Antwerp to Amsterdam, from Mainz Bordeaux to Bayonne; the passes of tin Mont Cenis, of Mont Genevre, of the Corn four openings through the Alps; in that al< reckon 800 millions. The roads from the P Alps, from Parma to Spezzia, from Savona the bridges of Jena, of Austerlitz, of the A of Tours, of Lyons, of Turin, of the Isere, oi of Bordeaux, of Rouen; the canal from the Rhone, joining the waters of Holland to t nean; the canal that joins the Scheldt am connecting Amsterdam and Paris; that w Ranee and the Vilaine; the canal of Arlei the Rhine; the draining of the marshes of the Cotentin, of Rochefort; the rebuilding